

County Classifications in Missouri

Missouri Association of Counties key to data

- Charter – Counties with a charter form of government.
- Classification 1 – Noncharter classifications 1, 2 and 3 . . . In accordance to state law, the required assessed valuation for first- and second-class counties shall be increased annually by an amount equal to the percentage change in the annual average of the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers (CPI-U) or zero, whichever is greater. Counties having an assessed valuation of less than the assessed valuation necessary to be a second-class county shall automatically be a third-class county. Counties need to have five consecutive years of meeting the required assessed valuation in order to change classification. During that five-year monitoring period, counties that meet the require assessed valuation for reclassification are put in a 'holding' status for reclassification while still operating under their current classification. The State Auditor's Office is required to notify counties of a change in classification status once assessed valuations are certified and the required assessed valuations for reclassification are met.
- Classification 2
- Classification 3
- Classification 4 – Classification 2 counties, which would otherwise return to Classification 3 because of changes in assessed valuation, but which attained Classification 2 prior to August 13, 1988 and operate under the laws of Classification 2.
- 20 Township Counties . . . (#) = the number of townships in the county.

The Missouri Association of Counties, founded in 1972, is a nonprofit and nonpartisan member service organization established to provide a conduit of service for its member counties in matters that pertain to local, state and federal government activities. The association is a lobbying alliance of county administrative and elected officials who work to improve services for Missouri taxpayers. MAC strives to serve the best interests of local taxpayers by: (1) promoting passage of priority bills and by monitoring other legislation before the state General Assembly to assess its effect on county government; (2) providing training resources during annual conferences; and (3) disseminating information and materials – all to increase the efficiency of county operations statewide.
